#GIVINGTUESDAY

A day when the world comes together to give

Dear Channapha,

Today is #GivingTuesday, which means people around the world are celebrating kindness by giving back.

Here at Legacies of War, we believe that all children have the right to grow up and play in a safe environment without fear of unexploded bomblets. During the Vietnam War, the United States dropped more than two million tons of bombs on Laos. More than 25 percent of these bombs never exploded. Every year, more than 50 Lao men, women and children are wounded or killed. More than 15,000 survivors are in need of ongoing care.

We are a small organization with BIG DREAMS. We dream of the day when the millions of lethal bombs left behind by the U.S. air war in Laos are destroyed.

We dream of villagers tilling their soil in safety and Lao children playing in their school yards without fear. But we are not just dreaming. We have a proven track record of advocacy in the halls of Congress, resulting in significant new increases of direct US funding for demining in Laos. Thanks to your generosity, our education and advocacy work is achieving results! Give today on #GivingTuesday, help us raise \$25,000 for this significant cause.

Your gift on #GivingTuesday will:

- Help us keep our voice strong in Washington, DC, calling for a long-term, sustained increase in U.S. funding for clearance and victim assistance activities in Laos.
- Provide ongoing dialogue between all stakeholders to foster collaboration and mutual support in solving this pressing humanitarian problem.
- Build the next generation of changemakers. Your gift will allow us to launch our NextGen Fellowship, an exchange program between young leaders in Laos and the US cooperating to support the UXO sector.

Today, contribute to a new legacy. Join us and be a part of a global celebration of a new tradition of generosity. Every cent counts when it comes to raising awareness about the Secret War and the unexploded bomblets issue in Laos.

Help us SAVE LIVES and make Laos safe for future generations.
